

Fashion Tip of the Week!

Hey Guys, how many of you occasionally wear a nice watch, a special pair of cuff links or a ring on your finger?

This draws attention to your hands. A way to keep your personal style and debonair looks as polished as possible is by getting a manicure.

We all know the argument against receiving a manicure; questioning of manhood, etc... However, as a writer for GQ Magazine states, "Manicures are a pleasant luxury..."

There are few matters of grooming that can be a bigger turnoff than dirty fingernails and out-of-control cuticles. Some self-maintenance with clippers can often results in a rough look and a coarse touch. The occasional pro-manicure will give you nice, even nails that can be easily maintained and have people focused on you instead of your hands.

Keep this fashion tip in mind and remember to always be Clothes Minded.